The Word of the Lord is pure, and right, and just in all its ways. It is sweeter than honey and more desirable than food. It is like a lamp to my feet and a light for my path. It has made me glad with the joy of Your salvation, and I have hoped for Your promised land. I will meditate on Your precepts and consider them in my heart. I will not turn from Your laws, but will observe them and do them. I will praise You, O Lord, for Your name and for Your steadfast love. Your truth endures forever, and Your law is forever. I will follow the rules of the Lord and do His will. The Lord has given me strength and I will not be moved.
